Hey builders,

We’ve got a packed lineup to help you move faster and ship smarter in Bolt: building with Notion, integrating HubSpot, and even replicating websites with Bolt. There’s something below for everyone:

Build with Notion (Live Today @ noon PT!)

Join us for the much-awaited integrations workshop part 2, where you'll learn how to build a blog powered by Bolt + Notion. You'll come away knowing how to use Notion as your CMS, seamlessly plugged into your workflow. Also…attendees might get a little something extra 😉

Bolt x HubSpot (Next Week)

Part 3 of our integrations series is right on the horizon! This session will cover how Bolt and HubSpot work together to streamline your workflows and automate the repetitive stuff

- Cut down manual work
- Automate repetitive tasks
- Make your HubSpot CRM data work for you

If productivity is the goal, this session is for you. Register here →

How to Replicate Any Website Using AI

Want to recreate a site you love (e.g. huly.io) using open-source components? Jakub breaks down how to do exactly that in this new tutorial for Bolt.new, where you'll learn how to:

- Find and import open-source React components
- Structure your hero layout with prompts
- Customize properties like color, opacity, speed, and sizing
- Add animated, glowing CTAs
- Refine the design and adapt it to your own brand + content

Is Your App Secure Enough?

App security is no joke. If you've been building fast and want to make sure you're also building right, check out this workshop on security + version control for Bolt.new projects.

It dives into professional development workflows for Bolt.new projects, covering:

- Version control essentials
- Security best practices
- Advanced deployment options
- How to protect your app as it grows

This is truly a must-watch for anyone moving their app from concept to production-ready software.
